If a picture was already taken, but a retake is needed, please let your teacher know so your child can be sent for pictures. - 11/19 - Virtual Session: Understanding School Avoidance, Wednesday, November 19, 2025 • 6:00–7:30 PM (CST), Rogers Behavioral Health is offering a free virtual session for parents and educators focused on understanding and addressing school avoidance in children and adolescents. School avoidance can sometimes appear as physical complaints—such as stomachaches, headaches, or nausea—and we've noticed an increase in students visiting the nurse or sharing anxious feelings related to attending school. This session will provide helpful information and strategies to support students who may be experiencing these concerns.

An informational flyer for this event can be found on our Bristol Website under the Virtual Backpack. To register for this free event, simply click on this link.
